U.S. Retirement Partners Announces New Advisor Planning Tools

Still River Retirement Planning Software, Inc. Builds Custom Calculators for USRP

Iselin, N.J., March 31, 2011 – After a thorough due diligence process, U.S. Retirement Partners (USRP) contracted with Still River Retirement Planning Software, Inc. to build four custom calculators for use by its over 250 Advisors. These new calculators are a tremendous addition to the already robust MyUSRP website, and will give USRP Advisors valuable educational and planning tools when working with their clients and prospects.

Still River, based in Harvard, MA, and founded in 1994, specializes in providing innovative retirement planning software solutions for both large and small companies focused on supporting clients' retirement planning needs. Through careful analysis of USRP's business requirements, Still River customized the tools necessary to support our Advisors' needs.

“Our main goal is helping support the needs of our Partner Firms and associated Advisors. We listen very carefully to what is needed to help them grow their businesses, and invariably increasing the number of client planning tools is the main request. These new calculators will give our Advisors what they have been asking for,” said Jim Schlucter, USRP Senior Vice President and National Director of Practice Management.

“Still River has given USRP Advisors the additional tools necessary to help their clients and prospects understand and plan for a comfortable retirement. By adding Florida DROP, Texas Partial Lump Sum Option, State Retirement, and Paycheck calculators to the MyUSRP website, we have a complete suite of tools available for all of our Advisors,” said Mark Skinner, USRP President and CEO.
