U.S. Retirement & Benefits Partners Holds Annual Leaders Conference

Partners Advisory Council

Iselin, NJ, January 10, 2019 – U.S. Retirement & Benefits Partners (USRBP) announced today the successful conclusion of their annual Partners Advisory Council Meeting, held in Orlando, FL.

Senior management and business leaders from USRBP’s national network of benefits and retirement firms attend the annual conference to discuss the company’s accomplishments and goals, as well as industry trends, products, services, and technology initiatives. The highly collaborative forum focused on newly expanded client services, including ACA reporting and Minimum Essential Coverage (MEC) plans.

The highlight of the event was speaker Bill Walton, retired NBA player and sportscaster, who shared stories focused on team building and working together to accomplish goals and achieve success. His life experiences and strength in the face of adversity truly motivated the group.

“The USRBP service model is built around delivering personal services, leveraged by technology, to support our clients’ goals and objectives. Bringing our leadership team together, in addition to our other collaborative forums of State Leadership teams, our Partners Advisory Group to the Board, and our Executive Operating Group assures our ability to work together as a team to achieve those objectives. Having Bill Walton with us to talk about his successes was a highlight of the meeting,” said Mark Skinner, USRBP President and CEO.
