Iselin, NJ, September 30, 2022 – U.S. Retirement & Benefits Partners (USRBP) announced today their donations to help support communities in Florida affected by Hurricane Ian. Under the company’s “Project Starfish” program, an initiative that supports various causes through monetary donations, volunteering, and participation in charitable events, corporate donations have been made to the Florida Disaster Fund and Samaritan’s Purse, in addition to the efforts of employees across the state.

USRBP has always had a strong commitment to the state of Florida, having numerous office locations serving hundreds of employer clients and thousands of participants throughout the state. Our communities have always come together in times of need and adversity, and we are proud of the many USRBP team members who have worked with local first responders, houses of worship, and other organizations to deliver supplies to those in need.

Mark Skinner, USRBP CEO, said, “We are proud of our many employees who have given so generously of their time, talent and treasure to support the citizens of Florida at this critical time.”
